INDEX TO VOLUME 27

AUTHOR

This section is arranged alphabetically by author

Atherton, Charles R. (see Raymond, Ginny T.)

Baker, Donald R. On-line bibliometric analysis for researchers and educators. No. 1, pp. 41–47.

Barker, Robert. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 108–111; Response: pp. 112–113). No. 2, pp. 102–113.

Bentley, Kia J., Farmer, Rosemary L., & Phillips, M. Elizabeth. Student knowledge and attitudes toward psychotropic drugs. No. 3, pp. 279–290.

Berger, Ruth. Untapped sources for recruiting minority BSW students. No. 2, pp. 168–175.

Blum, Nancee. (see Walz, Thomas)

Bogo, Marion. (see Vayda, Elaine)

Buchan, Victoria V. To assess or not to assess is no longer the question: Potential of program monitoring. No. 1, pp. 25–33.

Burstow, Bonnie. Freirian codifications and social work education. No. 2, pp. 196–207.

Carillo, Ernestina. (see Manoleas, Peter)

Cole, Bettie S. Legal issues related to social work program admissions. No. 1, pp. 18–24.

Craft, John. (see Walz, Thomas)

Farmer, Rosemary L. (see Bentley, Kia J.)

Finnegan, Daniel, & Ivanoff, André. Effects of brief computer training on attitudes toward computer use in practice: An educational experiment. No. 1, pp. 73–82.

Fulton, John R. (see Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise)

Harbert, Terry L. (see Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise)

Harper, Karen V., Ramey, John H., & Zook, Lee J. BSW program administration: Directors' perceptions of their power to manage. No. 2, pp. 176–186.

Harrison, Dianne F. (see Sowers-Hoag, Karen M.)

Ivanoff, André. (see Finnegan, Daniel)

Kameoka, Velma A., & Lister, Larry. Evaluation of student learning outcomes in MSW programs. No. 3, pp. 251–257.

Knight, Carolyn. Gender-sensitive curricula in social work education: A national study. No. 2, pp. 145–155.

Latting, Jean Kantambu, & Raffoul, Paul R. Designing student work groups for increased learning: An empirical investigation. No. 1, pp. 48–59.

Lazar, Amnon. Faculty, practitioner, and student attitudes toward research. No. 1, pp. 34–40.

Levin, Arnold M. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 235–238; Response: pp. 239–240). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Lister, Larry. (see Kameoka, Velma A.)

Manoleas, Peter, & Carillo, Ernestina. A culturally syntonic approach to the field education of Latino students. No. 2, pp. 135–144.

Moore, Linda S., & Urwin, Charlene A. Gatekeeping: A model for screening baccalaureate students for field education. No. 1, pp. 8–17.

Peebles-Wilkins, Wilma. (see Reid, P. Nelson)

Phillips, M. Elizabeth. (see Bentley, Kia J.)

Raffoul, Paul R. (see Latting, Jean Kantambu)

Ramey, John H. (see Harper, Karen V.)

Raskin, Miriam, Skolnik, Louise, & Wayne, Julianne. An international perspective of field instruction. No. 3, pp. 258–270.

Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise, Harbert, Terry L., & Fulton, John R. Evaluation as an imperative for social services preservation: A challenge to the Department of Veterans Affairs. No. 2, pp. 114–124.

Raymond, Ginny T., & Atherton, Charles R. Blue smoke and mirrors: The continuum in social work education. No. 3, pp. 297–304.

Reid, P. Nelson, & Peebles-Wilkins, Wilma. Social work and the liberal arts: Renewing the commitment. No. 2, pp. 208–219.

Robinson, Margaret M. (see Schwartz, Sanford)

Schiele, Jerome H. Publication productivity of African-American social work faculty. No. 2, p. 125–134.

Schwartz, Sanford, & Robinson, Margaret M. Attitudes toward poverty during undergraduate education. No. 3, pp. 290–296.

Shore, Barbara K. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? No! (Commentary: pp. 231–235; Response: pp. 238–239). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Skolnik, Louise. (see Raskin, Miriam)

Soifer, Steven. Infusing content about Jews and anti-semitism into the curricula. No. 2, pp. 156–167.

Sowers-Hoag, Karen M., & Harrison, Dianne F.

INDEX TO VOLUME 27

AUTHOR

This section is arranged alphabetically by author

Atherton, Charles R. (see Raymond, Ginny T.)

Baker, Donald R. On-line bibliometric analysis for researchers and educators. No. 1, pp. 41–47.

Barker, Robert. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 108–111; Response: pp. 112–113). No. 2, pp. 102–113.

Bentley, Kia J., Farmer, Rosemary L., & Phillips, M. Elizabeth. Student knowledge and attitudes toward psychotropic drugs. No. 3, pp. 279–290.

Berger, Ruth. Untapped sources for recruiting minority BSW students. No. 2, pp. 168–175.

Blum, Nancee. (see Walz, Thomas)

Bogo, Marion. (see Vayda, Elaine)

Buchan, Victoria V. To assess or not to assess is no longer the question: Potential of program monitoring. No. 1, pp. 25–33.

Burstow, Bonnie. Freirian codifications and social work education. No. 2, pp. 196–207.

Carillo, Ernestina. (see Manoleas, Peter)

Cole, Bettie S. Legal issues related to social work program admissions. No. 1, pp. 18–24.

Craft, John. (see Walz, Thomas)

Farmer, Rosemary L. (see Bentley, Kia J.)

Finnegan, Daniel, & Ivanoff, André. Effects of brief computer training on attitudes toward computer use in practice: An educational experiment. No. 1, pp. 73–82.

Fulton, John R. (see Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise)

Harbert, Terry L. (see Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise)

Harper, Karen V., Ramey, John H., & Zook, Lee J. BSW program administration: Directors' perceptions of their power to manage. No. 2, pp. 176–186.

Harrison, Dianne F. (see Sowers-Hoag, Karen M.)

Ivanoff, André. (see Finnegan, Daniel)

Kameoka, Velma A., & Lister, Larry. Evaluation of student learning outcomes in MSW programs. No. 3, pp. 251–257.

Knight, Carolyn. Gender-sensitive curricula in social work education: A national study. No. 2, pp. 145–155.

Latting, Jean Kantambu, & Raffoul, Paul R. Designing student work groups for increased learning: An empirical investigation. No. 1, pp. 48–59.

Lazar, Amnon. Faculty, practitioner, and student attitudes toward research. No. 1, pp. 34–40.

Levin, Arnold M. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 235–238; Response: pp. 239–240). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Lister, Larry. (see Kameoka, Velma A.)

Manoleas, Peter, & Carillo, Ernestina. A culturally syntonic approach to the field education of Latino students. No. 2, pp. 135–144.

Moore, Linda S., & Urwin, Charlene A. Gatekeeping: A model for screening baccalaureate students for field education. No. 1, pp. 8–17.

Peebles-Wilkins, Wilma. (see Reid, P. Nelson)

Phillips, M. Elizabeth. (see Bentley, Kia J.)

Raffoul, Paul R. (see Latting, Jean Kantambu)

Ramey, John H. (see Harper, Karen V.)

Raskin, Miriam, Skolnik, Louise, & Wayne, Julianne. An international perspective of field instruction. No. 3, pp. 258–270.

Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise, Harbert, Terry L., & Fulton, John R. Evaluation as an imperative for social services preservation: A challenge to the Department of Veterans Affairs. No. 2, pp. 114–124.

Raymond, Ginny T., & Atherton, Charles R. Blue smoke and mirrors: The continuum in social work education. No. 3, pp. 297–304.

Reid, P. Nelson, & Peebles-Wilkins, Wilma. Social work and the liberal arts: Renewing the commitment. No. 2, pp. 208–219.

Robinson, Margaret M. (see Schwartz, Sanford)

Schiele, Jerome H. Publication productivity of African-American social work faculty. No. 2, p. 125–134.

Schwartz, Sanford, & Robinson, Margaret M. Attitudes toward poverty during undergraduate education. No. 3, pp. 290–296.

Shore, Barbara K. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? No! (Commentary: pp. 231–235; Response: pp. 238–239). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Skolnik, Louise. (see Raskin, Miriam)

Soifer, Steven. Infusing content about Jews and anti-semitism into the curricula. No. 2, pp. 156–167.

Sowers-Hoag, Karen M., & Harrison, Dianne F.

Women in social work education: Progress or promise? No. 3, p. 320–328.

Specht, Harry. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? No! (Commentary: pp. 102–107; Response: pp. 111–112). No 2, pp. 102–113.

Stout, Karen D. A continuum of male controls and violence against women: A teaching model. No. 3, pp. 305–319.

Strom, Kimberly. Should field instructors be social workers? No. 2, pp. 187–195.

Urwin, Charlene A. (see Moore, Linda S.)

Vayda, Elaine, & Bogo, Marion. A teaching model to unite classroom and field. No. 3, pp. 271–278.

Walz, Thomas, Craft, John, & Blum, Nancee. Social work faculty in retirement: A national study. No. 1, pp. 60–72.

Wayne, Julianne. (see Raskin, Miriam)

Wyers, Norman L. Policy-practice in social work: Models and issues. No. 3, pp. 241–250.

Zook, Lee J. (see Harper, Karen V.)

SUBJECT

This section is arranged alphabetically by subject and primary author

Administration

Buchan, Victoria V. To access or not to assess is no longer the question: Potential of program monitoring. No. 1, pp. 25–33.

Cole, Bettie S. Legal issues related to social work program admissions. No. 1, pp. 18–24.

Harper, Karen V., Ramey, John H., & Zook, Lee J. BSW program administration: Directors' perceptions of their power to manage. No. 2, pp. 176–186.

Kameoka, Velma A., & Lister, Larry. Evaluation of student learning outcomes in MSW programs. No. 3, pp. 251–257.

Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise, Harbert, Terry L., & Fulton, John R. Evaluation as an imperative for social services preservation: A challenge to the Department of Veterans Affairs. No. 2, pp. 114–124.

BSW

Berger, Ruth. Untapped sources for recruiting minority BSW students. No. 2, pp. 168–175.

Harper, Karen V., Ramey, John H., & Zook, Lee J. BSW program administration: Directors' perceptions of their power to manage. No. 2, pp. 176–186.

Moore, Linda S., & Urwin, Charlene A. Gatekeeping: A model for screening baccalaureate students for field education. No. 1, pp. 8–17.

Computers

Baker, Donald R. On-line bibliometric analysis for researchers and educators. No. 1, pp. 41–47.

Buchan, Victoria V. To assess or not to assess is no longer the question: Potential of program monitoring. No. 1, pp. 25–33.

Finnegan, Daniel, & Ivanoff, André. Effects of brief computer training on attitudes toward computer use in practice: An educational experiment. No. 1, pp. 73–82.

Curriculum

Barker, Robert. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 108–111; Response: pp. 112–113). No. 2, pp. 102–113.

Bentley, Kia J., Farmer, Rosemary L., & Phillips, M. Elizabeth. Student knowledge and attitudes toward psychotropic drugs. No. 3, pp. 279–290.

Burstow, Bonnie. Freirian codifications and social work education. No. 2, pp. 196–207.

Knight, Carolyn. Gender-sensitive curricula in social work education: A national study. No. 2, pp. 145–155.

Latting, Jean Kantambu, & Raffoul, Paul R. Designing student work groups for increased learning: An empirical investigation. No. 1, pp. 48–59.

Levin, Arnold M. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 235–238; Response: pp. 239–240). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Raymond, Ginny T., & Atherton, Charles R. Blue smoke and mirrors: The continuum in social work education. No. 3, pp. 297–304.

Reid, P. Nelson, & Peebles-Wilkins, Wilma. Social work and the liberal arts: Renewing the commitment. No. 2, pp. 208–219.

Shore, Barbara K. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? No! (Commentary: pp. 231–235; Response: 238–239). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Soifer, Steven. Infusing content about Jews and anti-semitism into the curricula. No. 2, pp. 156–167.

Specht, Harry. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? No! (Commentary: pp. 102–107; Response: pp. 111–112). No. 2, pp. 102–113.

Stout, Karen D. A continuum of male controls and violence against women: A teaching model. No. 3, pp. 305–319.

Elderly

Walz, Thomas, Craft, John, & Blum, Nancee. Social work faculty in retirement: A national study. No. 1, pp. 60–72.

Employment

Sowers-Hoag, Karen M., & Harrison, Dianne F. Women in social work education: Progress or promise? No. 3, pp. 320–328.

Walz, Thomas, Craft, John, & Blum, Nancee. Social work faculty in retirement: A national study. No. 1, pp. 60–72.

Ethnic/Cultural Diversity

Berger, Ruth. Untapped sources for recruiting minority BSW students. No. 2, pp. 168–175.

Manoleas, Peter, & Carillo, Ernestina. A culturally syntonic approach to the field education of Latino students. No. 2, pp. 135–144.

Schiele, Jerome H. Publication productivity of African-American social work faculty. No. 2, pp. 125–134.

Soifer, Steven. Infusing content about Jews and anti-semitism into the curricula. No. 2, pp. 156–167.

Faculty

Lazar, Amnon. Faculty, practitioner, and student attitudes toward research. No. 1, pp. 34–40.

Schiele, Jerome H. Publication productivity of African-American social work faculty. No. 2, pp. 125–134.

Sowers-Hoag, Karen M., & Harrison, Dianne F. Women in social work education: Progress or promise? No. 3, pp. 320–328.

Strom, Kimberly. Should field instructors be social workers? No. 2, pp. 187–195.

Walz, Thomas, Craft, John, & Blum, Nancee. Social work faculty in retirement: A national study. No. 1, pp. 60–72.

Field Instruction

Manoleas, Peter, & Carillo, Ernestina. A culturally syntonic approach to the field education of Latino students. No. 2, pp. 135–144.

Moore, Linda S., & Urwin, Charlene A. Gatekeeping: A model for screening baccalaureate students for field education. No. 1, pp. 8–17.

Raskin, Miriam, Skolnik, Louise, & Wayne, Julianne. An international perspective of field instruction. No. 3, pp. 258–270.

Strom, Kimberly. Should field instructors be social workers? No. 2, pp. 187–195.

Vayda, Elaine, & Bogo, Marion. A teaching model to unite classroom and field. No. 3, pp. 271–278.

HBSE

Manoleas, Peter, & Carillo, Ernestina. A culturally syntonic approach to the field education of Latino students. No. 2, pp. 135–144.

Soifer, Steven. Infusing content about Jews and anti-semitism into the curricula. No. 2, pp. 156–167.

Health

Bentley, Kia J., Farmer, Rosemary L., & Phillips, M. Elizabeth. Student knowledge and attitudes toward psychotropic drugs. No. 3, pp. 279–290.

International Social Work

Lazar, Amnon. Faculty, practitioner, and student attitudes toward research. No. 1, pp. 34–40.

Raskin, Miriam, Skolnik, Louise, & Wayne, Julianne. An international perspective of field instruction. No. 3, pp. 258–270.

Law and Social Work

Cole, Bettie S. Legal issues related to social work program admissions. No. 1, pp. 18–24.

Policy

Schwartz, Sanford, & Robinson, Margaret M. Attitudes toward poverty during undergraduate education. No. 3, pp. 290–296.

Vayda, Elaine, & Bogo, Marion. A teaching model to unite classroom and field. No. 3, pp. 271–278.

Wyers, Norman L. Policy-practice in social work: Models and issues. No. 3, pp. 241–250.

Practice

Barker, Robert. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 108–111; Response: pp. 112–113). No. 2, pp. 102–113.

Burstow, Bonnie. Freirian codifications and social work education. No. 2, pp. 196–207.

Finnegan, Daniel, & Ivanoff, André. Effects of brief computer training on attitudes toward computer use in practice: An educational experiment. No. 1, pp. 73–82.

Lazar, Amnon. Faculty, practitioner, and student attitudes toward research. No. 1, pp. 34–40.

Levin, Arnold M. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? Yes! (Commentary: pp. 235–238; Response: pp. 239–240). No. 3, 231–240.

Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise, Harbert, Terry L., & Fulton, John R. Evaluation as an imperative for social services preservation: A challenge to the Department of Veterans Affairs. No. 2, pp. 114–124.

Shore, Barbara K. Is there a role for clinical doctoral education? No! (Commentary: pp. 231–235; Response: pp. 238–239). No. 3, pp. 231–240.

Specht, Harry. Should training for private practice be a central component of social work education? No! (Commentary: pp. 102–107; Response: pp. 111–112). No. 2, pp. 102–113.

Strom, Kimberly. Should field instructors be social workers? No. 2, pp. 187–195.

Vayda, Elaine, & Bogo, Marion. A teaching model to unite classroom and field. No. 3, pp. 271–278.

Wyers, Norman L. Policy-practice in social work: Models and issues. No. 3, pp. 241–250.

Research

Baker, Donald R. On-line bibliometric analysis for researchers and educators. No. 1, pp. 41–47.

Latting, Jean Kantambu, & Raffoul, Paul R. Designing student work groups for increased learning: An empirical investigation. No. 1, pp. 48–59.

Rathbone-McCuan, Eloise, Harbert, Terry L., & Fulton, John R. Evaluation as an imperative for social services preservation: A challenge to the Department of Veterans Affairs. No. 2, pp. 114–124.

Schiele, Jerome H. Publication productivity of African-American social work faculty. No. 2, pp. 125–134.

Students

Bentley, Kia J., Farmer, Rosemary L., & Phillips, M. Elizabeth. Student knowledge and attitudes toward psychotropic drugs. No. 3, pp. 279–290.

Berger, Ruth. Untapped sources for recruiting minority BSW students. No. 2, pp. 168–175.

Cole, Bettie S. Legal issues related to social work program admissions. No. 1, pp. 18–24.

Kameoka, Velma A., & Lister, Larry. Evaluation of student learning outcomes in MSW programs. No. 3, pp. 251–257.

Latting, Jean Kantambu, & Raffoul, Paul R. Designing student work groups for increased learning: An empirical investigation. No. 1, pp. 48–59.

Lazar, Amnon. Faculty, practitioner, and student attitudes toward research. No. 1, pp. 34–40.

Moore, Linda S., & Urwin, Charlene A. Gatekeeping: A model for screening baccalaureate students for field education. No. 1, pp. 8–17.

Schwartz, Sanford, & Robinson, Margaret M. Attitudes toward poverty during undergraduate education. No. 3, pp. 290–296.

Women's Studies

Knight, Carolyn. Gender-sensitive curricula in social work education: A national study. No. 2, pp. 145–155.

Sowers-Hoag, Karen M., & Harrison, Dianne F. Women in social work education: Progress or promise? No. 3, p. 320–328.

Stout, Karen D. A continuum of male controls and violence against women: A teaching model. No. 3, pp. 305–319.